Planning Board Holds Hearing On Carousel Drive/Braney Road Development

Residents gather around site plans for the proposed development.

MILLBURY. Two Public Hearings were held by the Planning Board Monday night, February 23, relative to a proposed subdivision plan proposed by Renaud Realty of Linwood, Massachusetts.

Approximately thirty-five residents of the Carousel Drive/Braney Road area crowded the Planning Board room to listen to a presentation given by K. N. Srinivas of the Kalkunte Engineering Corp. Srinivas explained that Renaud Realty has proposed a 76-unit project that would be constructed between Carousel Drive and Braney Road. The development will be serviced by town sewer and water.

Nelson read a letter from Massachusetts Water Co. which stated that it was prepared to service the development with water connecting onto its system at Carousel Drive and forming a loop with the service at Braney Road. According to Srinivas, these connections would improve the system.

Sewer lines would be brought up from Grafton St, Belleville Lane, and into the development through Carousel Drive. George Buron, Sewer Commissioner, remarked that this will allow thirty-six homes on Carousel Drive to hook up to town sewers.

According to Srinivas, the proposed development would be accessed by three roads, one leading from Carousel Drive and two from Braney Road.

The proposed units would be built on an average lot size of 17,600 feet, with the largest lot being 42,000 sq. ft. and the smallest 12,600. According to George Lamothe, representing Renaud Realty, houses will be sold for $150,000 and up.

Christopher Nelson, Town Planner, explained that an Open Space Community offered the developer incentives in the way of reduced lot sizes and frontage, in return for open space which would be free from future development. Nelson said that, under the provision, "30% of the land is reserved for open space. In this case that represents 17.6 acres. The open space has to be deeded to the town, after the subdivision is completed, as a reservation never to be built on."

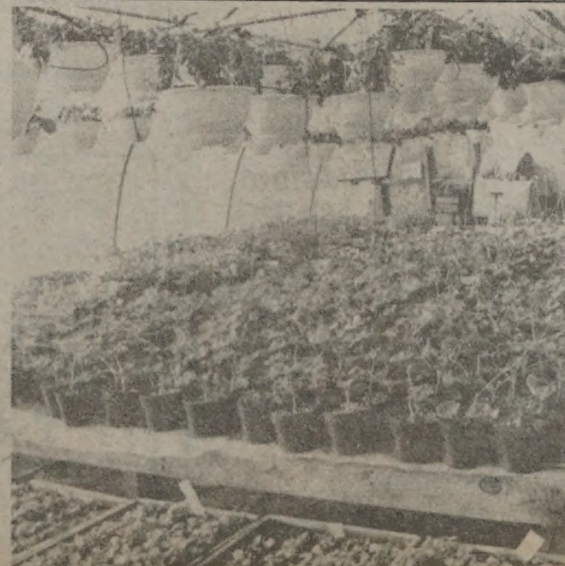

Following the presentation, residents voiced several areas of concern. Melissa Poirier of Braney Road complained that her home was built on a swamp and questioned whether the development would aggravate an already serious condition. Nelson explained that it was the developer's intention to fill in some wetland areas which, in her case, could actually correct the problem.

John Sheehan of Braney Road questioned the size of the present access roads which are 40 feet wide. New zoning by-laws state that access roads must be fifty feet wide.

MILLBURY SELECTMEN'S MEETING DIGEST

By Edward J. Cooney

FEBRUARY 17, 1987

The Selectmen signed the Warrant and moved to correct and approve the Minutes of several previous meetings. Chairman Adams reminded the Board of the upcoming Annual Town meeting to be held on April 4, 1987, at 1:00 p.m. The Chair then moved the meeting to items under "Old Business".

- A letter of resignation was accepted, with regret, from Ronald Nolan, assistant dog officer.

- It was noted that two people have already been appointed, through the town moderator, to the study committee established at the last special town meeting concerning Signal Resco's Resource Recovery facility.

- Adams stated that there was no new information concerning Lewcott Chemical. He and Chase indicated that the Task Force meeting centered around information already known and available.

Selectmen John Donnelly expressed his concern regarding the time schedule for the installation of equipment to eliminate noxious odor emissions. He noted that good weather will be coming soon and people will be opening their windows. He also stated that he did not buy the September date and suggested that the timetable be pushed up.

Selectman Jude Cristo asked if there was a timetable or a firm schedule available for the Board to see. Adams stated that the engineering firm (Buonicore-Cashman of Bridgeport, Conn.) had indicated at a previous presentation before the Board (December 16) that the installation of controls would be completed by October. Donnelly suggested that a letter be written to ask the company for the schedule.

Adams then asked Administrator Chase to write a letter to Lewcott requesting the company's current timetable and the reason why it is appropriate.

- Adams stated that Richard Dwinell had contact him requesting that the Selectmen meet with the Transfer Study Committee, and the Board of Health, to discuss the initiation of a search for the engineering needed for the transfer station.

Selectman Roland Lachance suggested the possibility of the Board's electing one of its members to attend the meetings as it might be difficult to get all members together on any given night.

Adams concurred and suggested the possibility of a sub-committee.

- No action was taken on the street light updating on Wheelock Avenue as the Board had not received a report of Mass. Electric's study of the situation.

- Next, Adams asked Chase if he was prepared to make a presentation concerning the study of establishing a building and code enforcement department. Chase indicated that it was not ready at this time. It was suggested by Adams that the various inspectors be invited to get together with the Board of Selectmen as the town meeting was fast approaching.

- A brief discussion then ensued concerning Herricks Lane. Lachance indicated that he feels the "burden of proof" of ownership of the "right of way" lies with Mr. Miles. "He has to show he owns it," said Lachance.

Adams stated, "We expose ourselves if we attempt to control his activities, if he has title to it. We maintain it. There is a particular portion of it that presents a problem."

Lachance then posed the question of whether any record exists for the transfer of titles of land on Davis Road, Dolan Road, or South Oxford Road. He said that he would work with Chase on researching Herricks Lane.

Adams closed the discussion by stating, "Miles will have to be pinned down to produce his evidence so we can determine in what direction we can go."

- The Swim Study Committee met with Selectmen for a brief orientation as to the nature and purpose of their charge as members. Four of the seven members were in attendance. Adams noted that they will have to report back to the Town Meeting on their progress and any recommendations.

- At the urging and request of Lachance, the Selectmen will send a letter to the Fire Department's Board of Engineers, requesting that an exception be made for a former fireman to be reinstated as a member of the Department.

Lachance stated that this was a unique situation and that the young man in question should not have to wait for a whole year to pass for reinstatement. He noted that the young man had to move to Florida with his parents and has recently moved back to Millbury, married, and is now employed in a Millbury factory.

Donnelly stated that he was not aware of all the details but that such a policy was developed by the Fire Engineers because, in the past, some men would quit after a few months and then several months later they would want to come back.

SUTTON SELECTMEN CHANGE PRECINCT I POLLING SITE FOR UPCOMING ELECTIONS

By Karen Potter

SUTTON. At their February 17 meeting, Selectmen, in response to concerns voiced by the Fire Department, voted to change the polling place of Precinct I for the upcoming town election from the Sutton Center Fire Station to the gym at the Elementary School. It was explained that the fire station parking lot is so congested on election days that if there was a fire during an election the trucks could not get out of the garage. Selectmen instructed Administrative Assistant Bob Reed to double check with Superintendent Spence as to the possibility of using the same space for state and national elections which are held on days when school is in session.

Two classification alternatives were presented to the Selectmen by Robert Nunnemacher, chairman of the board of assessors. A two-tier tax structure would separate commercial, industrial and personal property (taxing at $26.19 per thousand dollars of value) from residential property (taxing at $15.72).

Speaking against this course of action, Alfred Meyers of Boston Road addressed the Selectmen saying, "If you vote for this (separate tax classifications) you're saying (to businesses), 'The Town doesn't want you here.' We've lost a lot of good industry in the Blackstone Valley because of it."

Instead of separate classifications, the level tax rate of $17.46 was approved by the Selectmen. As reported last week, taxpayers should expect their bills on or before April 1, 1987.

Once again, the question of dog barking at the TLC Dog Kennel on Uxbridge Road was reviewed. The result of the discussion was that the Selectmen will schedule a formal hearing for the first Tuesday evening in March. Administrative Assistant Bob Reed will notify the kennel owners and the petitioners of the hearing. The purpose of the meeting will be to bring both parties together to discuss the problem.

According to a Sutton by-law, excessive barking is considered to be a public nuisance and disturbing the peace. Chairman John Reed stated, "The Selectmen have the right to take some sort of action...either to limit the number of dogs or to require soundproof kennels." He went on to outline his position by stating that if the petitioners are still not satisfied with the efforts to control the noise, a complaint can be filed by the dog officer with the District Court.

Under the heading of "Old Business", the Selectmen will re-appoint Jack Connor to serve on the Blackstone Valley Regional Economic Development Council, and will appoint one other person to serve along with Connor. Frank Gatto has agreed to serve on the Council in an advisory capacity for the selectmen.

Preliminary site plans for a 59 house lot development have been received by the town. In keeping with their recently instituted practice, John Reed exhibited the plans to the Selectmen and opened the discussion about house lot size relative to town water and/or sewer services. The establishment of the Wilkinsonville Water District required an act of the General Court and the precise boundaries were defined by that legislation. It is expected that, unless the developer utilizes water from another district, the extension of the water district will also require special legislation.

Lachance noted that this was a situation where a young man had no choice at the time. He thought that an exception should be made in this case.

The Board then met with Anthony Vallone, seeking his input and advice concerning implementation of a sidewalk restoration program.

Vallone indicated that he would work with the Board and assist them in developing such a program. He noted his years of experience in the construction of sidewalks and driveways.

It was the consensus of the Board that Vallone and the Selectmen would conduct an on-site inspection of sidewalks in the downtown area to establish a priority list of locations and a program for upgrading sidewalks.

Prior to moving into Executive Session for Collective Bargaining, the Board unanimously approved the granting of a license renewal of a drain layer to A. Amorello and Sons.

Take Credit For The Value In Your Home

Your home has undoubtedly increased in value over the years. That value represents equity that you can turn into cash to get the things you need right now.

Use this simple formula to see how much credit the equity in your home might be worth. Take the estimated value of your home and multiply by 75%. Subtract the balance due on your mortgage from that figure and you have your potential credit line from Fidelity Co-operative Bank.

Example: Value of home $100,000 × 75%
minus balance on mortgage $40,000 equals
$35,000 as your potential line of credit.

Call Fidelity Co-operative Bank and ask about our Fidelity Home Equity Credit Line. You deserve a lot of credit for the value in your home.

ON THE SHELF

By

The reading discussion series "Working" begins at 10:00, March 24, at the Millbury Public Library. This series will give readers a unique opportunity to explore working in America. Each program in this series will include a visiting scholar who will make a 30 minute presentation on the book chosen for discussion that day. The scholar will discuss the book and relate it to the overall theme of working.

The first book to be discussed will be the 1982 bestseller, Growing Up, written by New York Times Columnist, Russell Baker. This is Baker's real-life story. It shows that despite most-unpromising premises of birth and historical circumstances, the All American Dream can actually come true. Born into a large but very poor extended family in rural Virginia during the Great Depression, Baker was blessed with two gifts: his native intelligence and his indomitable mother's ambition. The former, the exceedingly modest author would have us believe, was not particularly remarkable. The latter, clearly, was indispensable.

"I realized I would have to start with my mother and her passion for improving the male of the species, which in my case took the form of forcing me to 'make something of myself.'"

Regular readers of Baker's writing will not be disappointed by his wit, irony, skillful dialogue, and astute scene painting here. What is unusual is the depth of feeling that accompanies his subtle and serious message, despite the self-deprecating tone.

Like his domineering grandmother (with whom his mother didn't get along), Baker's mother possessed an iron will, boundless energy, and enough drive to make up for the "gumption" he so sorely lacked. (His sister Doris had gumption too, but was unfortunately born a girl. "Because of this defect," he noted, "best she could hope for was a career as a nurse or schoolteacher, the only work capable females were considered up to in those days.") But his mother needed her formidable reserves of spirit to beat the odds. Russell was born in backwoods Virginia in the Depression and his alcoholic father died of diabetes at age 33, when the boy was 5. Soon, in desperation, his mother had to "give up" her youngest child and move in with relatives only modestly better off, while trying to hold mental jobs. Soon Russell went to work, too.

As the melancholy stories unfold, conditions worsen. An uncle bilks his mother out of her small savings. A suitor stops courting, then disappears when he goes bust. The final humiliation is being forced to go on relief. Despite the ever dwindling family fortunes, Mrs. Baker's spirit somehow survives, and her faith remains that "Buddy" will "make something" of himself and that they will one day have a "home of their own".

And so he does, and so they do. But what may impress more than the unexpected happy ending - Russell gets a scholarship to Johns Hopkins, he miraculously makes it through flight school, he meets and finally marries "a good woman" - is the pluck of these survivors; even more, their basic decency, good humor, and caring hearts through the struggle.

Reflecting on this period of economic misery and social upheaval, other readers may make comparisons with their own troubled present. They may find parallels in a determined mother or other strong and influential family figure. With the Baker story in mind, the members of the discussion group may also want to reconsider how ambition - so recently distrusted - the traditional American Work Ethic, and the ideal of success, continue to affect our lives.

Those interested in participating in this reading discussion series are encouraged to pre-register and pick up the first reading, Growing Up, at the Library by March 21. For more information, call the Library at 865-1181 or 757-2155.

COMING UP SOON

March 15, from 2:00-3:00: Scott Alarik. Spend an afternoon listening to songs and stories of "Prairie Home Companion" favorite Scott Alarik. Alarik is a songwriter and storyteller with a bass-baritone voice and wry backbeat wit. Much of his stories and songs center on the 19th century Boston born scholar, Francis James Child; a remarkable man whose undying effort preserved the songs and story of working people for future generations. This is sure to be a delight for both young and old alike.

March 10, 17, 24 and 31, 6:15-7:30: Beginning Watercolor. An introduction to various watercolor techniques from beginning sketch to finished product. For children ten through sixteen. Registration necessary.

SUTTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO MEET MARCH 3

SUTTON. The monthly meeting of the Sutton Historical Society will be held on Tuesday, March 3, at 8:00 p.m. at the former Manchaug Baptist Church.

Following the business meeting, Bill Ballou will speak on the subject "Sutton in the Civil War". Mr. Ballou is a former reporter for the Blackstone Valley Tribune, and is presently a Sportswriter for the Worcester Telegram and Gazette.

Refreshments will be served, and the public is welcome to attend.

THIS IS A TEST

This is a test. This is only a test. You do not have to take this test, but if you don't, it could be hazardous to your health.

Please answer the following questions and choose only one response:

QUESTION 1. Is it against the law to contaminate the soil with hazardous chemicals?

CHOOSE ONE

- A. Yes.
- B. Yes, but don't penalize industry. Give the poor companies a chance to clean up their spills instead. They too have rights.
- C. Yes, but the laws are unclear.
- D. I don't know.
- E. No.
- F. Yes, but I don't care.

QUESTION 2. Is it against the law to pollute the air that we breathe?

CHOOSE ONE

- A. Yes.
- B. Yes, but don't penalize industry. Give the poor polluters a chance to clear the air. They have rights too.
- C. Yes, but the laws are unclear.
- D. I don't know.
- E. No.
- F. Yes, but I don't care.

QUESTION 3. Is it true that citizens have to fight with local, state, and federal officials and agencies to see that companies are fined or closed down for breaking environmental laws?

CHOOSE ONE

- A. Yes.
- B. Yes, but the poor companies need the time to clean up their act. They have rights too.
- C. Yes, but the government agencies and the elected officials have their hands tied by their own laws.
- D. I don't know.
- E. No.
- F. Yes, but I don't care.

QUESTION 4. Is it true that citizens have to argue with local, state, and federal agencies and officials to convince them that their health and well-being are being adversely affected by the operations of companies known to be in violation of environmental laws?

CHOOSE ONE

- A. Yes.
- B. Yes, but the poor companies have rights too.
- C. Yes, but the government agencies and the elected officials have their hands tied by their own laws.
- D. I don't know.
- E. No.
- F. Yes, but I don't care.

NOW ADD UP YOUR SCORES

If you chose 4 A's, you must be terribly frustrated.

If you chose 4 B's, you obviously have never been affected by any pollutant.

If you chose 4 C's, don't you think you should let your government agencies and your elected officials know how you feel?

If you chose 4 D's, where have you been hiding?

If you chose 4 E's, you should study the Constitution.

If you chose 4 F's, you should be ashamed of yourself.

*For agony and spoil
Of nations beat to dust,
For poisoned air and tortured soil
And cold, commanded lust,
And every secret woe
The shuddering waters saw—
Willed and fulfilled by high and low—
Let them relearn the Law.*

THREE YEARS OF MATH TO BE REQUIRED FOR ALL MILLBURY HIGH STUDENTS

By Edward J. Cooney

FEBRUARY 18, 1987

Chairman Hanratty called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. Four members of the Committee were in attendance, with Bruce Pease absent.

Hanratty opened the meeting by reading a letter from Pease, indicating his public disclosure, as required under the Conflict of Interest Law, relating to Nepotism. The letter indicated that Pease had been advised, after consultation with a representative of the State Ethics Commission, that he could participate in the general business of the School Committee, but should refrain from voting on teacher salaries, or in any situation where his wife's name is under consideration. Pease's wife is a teacher in the Millbury School System.

High School Principal Carmody was present to discuss a proposal for new courses in the Math Department. Carmody noted that students would be required to take three years of math at the College Prep, Career/Business, and General levels.

Presently, the Career level students are required to take only two years of math, one in grade 9 and the second in grade 11 or 12. The new course to be offered would mandate a three year consecutive sequential math program.

College Prep courses would be mandatory in a three year sequence at the honors and college level, with advanced math offered in grade 12. In response to questions about the effect of new programs on staffing, Carmody noted that there was adequate staff available. He took note of the fact that career/business students would be more adequately prepared for assessment testing in the future.

The Committee unanimously approved Dr. Sylvia's recommendation for a three year program in math for all high school students, beginning in September of 1987.

Carmody then presented a second proposal to drop Conversational Spanish and Conversational French to allow space in the time schedule for beefing up the reading program. Carmody stated that this would help to shore up reading weaknesses that students might have. He noted that the present grouping of students in Conversational Spanish and French were deficient in certain reading skills.

George Desrosiers, chairman of the Foreign Language Department, was present with his staff to express his concerns surrounding the proposed recommendation.

Desrosiers stated that he had "fought the battle" six times and that he was ready to give up fighting it once again. He indicated that the present curriculum committee for assessment and evaluation at the High School had discussed such a proposal but did not recommend its adoption. Desrosiers argued that the Reading Program was a failure yet the reading department head wants more time. He noted that the Foreign Language program was doing fine and yet they want to drop it. He also indicated that students found the reading program boring. "It's like castor oil, it's good for you," he said. Desrosiers further stated that he strongly supports the philosophy that teaching and learning can be fun and he explained that he has tried to adopt this philosophy in his teaching methods.

Desrosiers also made reference to an unwritten policy that students are "socially promoted" in the lower grades. He stated that ten years ago, when he was president of the teacher's association, he had heard many complaints from teachers about this, but nothing was accomplished.

Mrs. Cooney explained to Desrosiers that the Committee adopted a policy at its last meeting that would retain students who fail in the areas of the Basic Skills Assessments Tests, until they have passed the tests.

Desrosiers replied that he was pleased to hear that. He then went on to say, "I do not want to give up a program that is working for one that is not working, but wants more time. I don't like being played around with like a ping pong ball."

Wilczynski stated that he admired Desrosiers for fighting for the Foreign Language Department. However, he also stated, "The recommendation by Mr. Carmody sounds like it is being made to improve the reading program. I admire the reading department person for fighting for her department. Methods at the lower levels may not be the best, but that is being investigated. I go along with Mr. Carmody's recommendation," said Wilczynski.

James Tuttle, a student representative, stated that he had taken Desrosiers' classes and found them to be both educational and entertaining. "Maybe serious changes should be made in the reading department," he said.

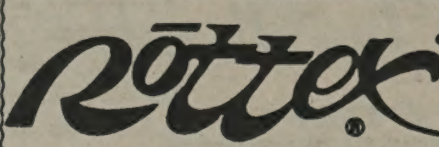

Desrosiers suggested that Reading might be incorporated into the schedule during the student's study periods. Carmody replied that scheduling and staffing would be a problem.

After several more minutes of discussion, Mrs. Cooney moved that Conversational French and Spanish be retained and that acceptance into those classes be based on a Reading Proficiency Test. The Committee unanimously voted the motion.

Mr. Lola, the bus contractor, and Mrs. Orrell, a school bus driver, were present at the request of the School Committee concerning a complaint that was aired at the last meeting by 40 parents of students attending the Shaw Middle School.

Chairman Hanratty recognized Mr. Cauldwell, a spokesman for the parents, who presented several letters written by former students, stating that Mrs. Orrell had stopped at her home on several occasions, leaving the children unattended on the bus.

Following Cauldwell's statements, the chair asked for a motion to go into Executive Session for reasons of discussion of personalities, character and reputation. On a unanimous vote, the committee went into Executive Session for 30 minutes.

Upon returning to Open Meeting, Mrs. Cooney made a motion to change Mrs. Orrell's bus route. Tuttle seconded, for the purposes of discussion, noting that he was not going to vote for the change. The motion failed to carry with only Mrs. Cooney voting in favor.

Wilczynski then moved to send a letter of reprimand to Mrs. Orrell and Lola indicating that another incident would bring immediate suspension or dismissal.

The Committee unanimously adopted the motion.

Cauldwell then stated that the parents were not particularly happy with the outcome of the Committee's vote. He did note that the Advisory Committee working with Mr. Stickney would bring about rules and regulations which could be adapted to future bus contract negotiations.

Lola then stated that if there was any harassment of his drivers his lawyer would be ready to take action.

Cauldwell stated that there is no intent to harass a definite person and noted, "We will not be harassed nor will our children."

The Committee then moved on to other agenda items.

The Committee unanimously adopted a motion to hire Happy's Catering Service to supply the buffet for the School Department Service Recognition Awards on March 11 at 5:00 p.m.

Dr. Sylvia noted that the Drop-Out Prevention Program at Millbury High had received outstanding recognition by the state, and he further explained that it might become a model program.

He then noted that the Drug Survey requested by the Chemical People will be distributed to the students the first week in March.

Sylvia and the Committee then discussed a report concerning the pros and cons of a K-7 self-contained structure, as an alternative to the present departmentalized structure for grades 6 and 7. The discussion concerned itself with the effect on staffing and the difficulties one or two faculty members might have adjusting to a self-contained structure. There was some disagreement over the time schedule for implementation if K-7 self-contained was accepted. Mrs. Cooney suggested that the item be placed again on the agenda for further discussion at the next meeting. She also hoped that any parents who had opinions would be present and asked that they be notified through the schools that their input was needed.

In other business, copies of samples of evaluation forms used by other communities to evaluate superintendent's were presented by Mrs. Cooney. The samples were obtained from the Mass Association of School Committees to assist the members in developing their own thoughts as to what method they would use to evaluate the Superintendent.

The Committee approved a request from the Superintendent to attend a seminar in Monterey California.

They also approved unanimously a recommendation by the Superintendent to appoint Robert Nicoletti as assistant boy's track coach, and Donald Fouracre as junior varsity coach for baseball.

Wilczynski then brought up for discussion a proposal to designate one member of the committee to sign the weekly payrolls. Mrs. Cooney was recommended to serve in that capacity with another member to fill that duty in her absence. It was noted by Hanratty that he and Pease could not sign the payrolls as they had immediate family members employed by the Millbury school system.

The Committee then voted to go into Executive Session at 1030 p.m., for purposes of discussing salaries for non-union workers.

Philip Dumas, Chairman of the Planning Board, stated that the present access roads were constructed under the old by-laws and would not affect the new developer. Eric White, Planning Board member, explained that the fifty feet stated in the law addressed the easement of the town and not the size of the paved area. He further explained that the new roads would be the same size as those constructed under the old by-law.

In response to a question on traffic impact, Nelson read a survey done by the Central Massachusetts Regional Planning Commission. The report concluded that traffic would operate at acceptable levels with no back-ups either on Carousel Drive or Braney Road.

Dumas stated that the development would be part of their normal agenda on March 9, and a decision would be made on March 23.

SPOTLIGHT ON BUSINESS

A & D PIZZERIA

John Kladas, unlike so many business people featured in this column, is not a native of Millbury. In fact, John, the owner and operator of A&D Pizza on Elm St., is not a native American. Yet, though he has been in the United States only ten years, he has, through hard work become not only a successful Millbury businessman and a friend to many residents, but an example of what can be achieved with hard work and determination.

About ten years ago, John lived in a small fishing village on the Greek Island of Corfu called Karousadia. Corfu is a Greek island consisting of about 100 small villages. "Karousadis is a coastal town that's populated mostly by fishermen and olive pickers," John explained. "The island is beautiful, with temperatures in the sixties during the cold season and in the eighties and nineties all summer. During the rainy season it can rain for three straight weeks, and during the summer we can go for two months without any rain." In the summer, the island swells with tourists from the Scandinavian countries, Germany, and England. Corfu is still very much a part of John and he speaks of it fondly. When he can, he visits his birthplace and the many relatives who still live there.

Life on the island is much different than it is here. John explained, "On Corfu, people aren't as concerned with tomorrow as are Americans. They are hard workers who don't earn a lot but always seem to manage. They don't worry about the future." Life on the islands is not easy. Men and women both have to work hard to carve out a life for their family and, because the communities are small, everyone pitches in to help those who are in need. For the most part, the residents are independent and proud of the fact that they can provide for themselves.

It was John's childhood on the Island that instilled in him the satisfaction of hard work. His parents had been brought to the United States some time earlier by the owners of Brown Shoe in Worcester while John and his brother remained on Corfu to complete their education. John's father was a master shoemaker and he, along with many others Greek nationals, was lured to the States by the promise of being able to provide a better life for their families. John's father had skills that were in demand, and a sense of adventure. He courageously came to this country and worked hard through the demise of the shoemaking industry in Worcester. It was only after his father became gravely ill that John and his younger brother joined his parents; his father passed away shortly thereafter.

John completed high school and attended Quinsigamond Community College for one year. "After a year, I knew that college wasn't for me," he said with a smile. John had worked making and delivering pizzas for almost four years. "I'm a quick learner," he said. "I watched and learned as much as I could and decided to open my own business." He was only 19 at the time and getting bank financing was a problem because he had no collateral and little experience. With the help of his mother and a bank willing to take a chance on him, John bought A&D pizza. "I always wanted to go to the suburbs," he said, "and when I found out that A&D was available I took the opportunity. There are quality people in Millbury," he added.

For two years, John operated the business with a partner. However, a year and a half ago, John assumed complete ownership of the restaurant/pizzeria. "I learned a lot. I made some mistakes at first. One mistake I made was renting the restaurant section to the Brother's Place," he said, shaking his head. "It was a nightmare!" The restaurant began to get a bad name and John feared that if he didn't act quickly, the reputation that the Brother's Place was gaining might affect him. He decided to evict his tenants and expand his pizzeria into a family style, family oriented restaurant that would serve good food and generous portions at a price that most families could afford. "I wanted to completely change the atmosphere and the image. I want people to know that they can bring their families in for a nice quiet meal. I'm always checking the market to get the best quality food at the best prices so I can offer my customers the best," he said with pride.

John is even more sensitive to family life since the recent birth of his son Stephen. John and his wife Connie live near Worcester State College. Connie has a degree in Retail Fashion from Becker Junior College where she was an honor student. She has put a promising career at Filene's on hold until her family has grown.

John Kladas is truly a welcome addition to our community, not simply because at twenty-three he has a successful restaurant, but because he has shown what hard work can accomplish. John works 7 days from open to close and takes only one afternoon off to be with his young family. "That's the thing I miss the most," he said, "not being able to be home with my wife and my son."

John is excited about the growth that Millbury and Sutton will be enjoying because it means a great deal to the whole community. As for the increased competition, John is firmly in favor. "Competition is good," he said, "because it forces you to always do better, to always try and improve. In the long run it helps the consumer and the businessman because without it, the businessman gets lazy and unresponsive."

It's that positive, progressive attitude that is the hallmark of John Kladas who, although he enjoys a successful business, is always contemplating how he can improve his facilities and his service to better meet the needs of the community.

SENIORS RULE!

It was one of the most exciting and most spirited Winter Carnivals in recent memory. And Friday, February 13, the last day, marked a near-miraculous come-from-behind surge by the Junior class, making it one of the closest competitions ever. The Seniors, nonetheless, clung to a narrow 535 to 525 point victory over the Juniors, thus winning Winter Carnival 1987!

Going into the final day, the Seniors had an apparently comfortable lead with 220 points; the Sophomores were in second place with 185 points; the Juniors in third with 165 points; the freshmen had 130 points. Up to that point, the Seniors had won the tug-o-war and the obstacle course, the Sophomores had won the volleyball, floor hockey and basketball free-throw contests, and the Juniors had placed second in four of the five sporting activities.

The most impressive stats, however, were those that reflected class spirit and cooperation. This is where the Seniors really led the way. The Seniors captured first place in all the class projects - the Gazette Santa, canned goods, and school colors.

School spirit really did abound this year from all the classes. At Christmas time, over $500 was collected for the Gazette Santa, nearly doubling the previous year's total. The number of canned goods collected on Wednesday of Winter Carnival Week more than doubled last year's contribution. A total of 796 canned foods were sent to the Green Island Organization of Worcester, to be distributed to needy families. The following is a thank you note from the Green Island staff: "We thank you so much for the canned goods. Many of our families will be helped because of your generosity and kindness. Your support helps us to continue our work to serve those less fortunate than ourselves." We're proud of our young people.

On the final day of Winter Carnival, all the big projects, skits, class songs, murals, posters and snow sculpture were judged. This is where the Juniors really shone. They took first place in all but one of these final activities. Everyone knew it would be close. And it was!

As far as the Eighth grade was concerned, they too exhibited a wonderful spirit. the White Team got off to a quick start by winning all of the sporting events except floor hockey. The Maroon team never gave up though, and came in strong in the end. Each team split the class activities: the Maroon team winning the school colors and the White team winning the canned food contest. The Maroon team also won the mural and the White team won the posters and snow sculpture. All in all I'm sure the Eighth graders are primed for next year.

In conclusion, Mr. Carmody, high school principal, would like to commend the students for their behavior at all the events. Good sportsmanship and class involvement were exceptional this year. Also, the entire student body and faculty would like to recognize Mrs. Frances Dupont for her organization and dedication. She has run this event since its inception and each year it runs smoother and smoother with increased participation. Thank you.

COURSE SELECTION SHEETS

On Friday, February 27, all students in Grades 9, 10, and 11 will receive their course selection sheet and program of studies booklet. The materials are needed for choosing next year's courses. Parents and students should study the program of studies in order to choose those courses that will best suit their needs or career choices. All forms must be signed by the parents and returned by Wednesday, March 11. Parents should note that the suggestions for course load is a minimum recommendation. We urge our students to take additional courses. If students take only the minimum, they could have eight (and possibly more) study periods per week. If other courses are available, it would greatly benefit your son or daughter to take them. Please feel free to ask any questions regarding the course selection process. The Guidance Department phone number is 865-5844.

CULTURAL ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

A committee which would look into bringing cultural activities to the High School has recently been formed. The members of the committee are: Mrs. Susan St. John and Mr. Fred Wadsworth, representing the faculty; and Eighth grader Kerri Murawski, Sophomore Christopher Richards, and Junior John Walkonen, representing the students. They will be looking into

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT
COUNCIL

The S.I.C. at its last meeting has indicated that it would like to fund cultural events as well as field trips. The committee is also studying the feasibility of a student lounge and of increasing the use of the television equipment. Should you have any additional suggestions, please apprise any member of the S.I.C., or call the principal's office, or attend our next meeting which will be on Thursday, March 5, at 2:10 in the Media Center.

DANCE

On Friday, February 27, the "Dollars for Scholars", a local organization which raises scholarships for Millbury residents, will sponsor a dance in the High School Gym. Junior Tim Cluett will be the disc jockey. The dance will run from 7:00-11:00 p.m. Admission is $3.00, and school rules apply.

SPECIAL REPORTS DUE

We're already at the mid-point of the third quarter. Teachers will be sending home special reports via the students. Those students who have averages of 70 or under will receive these special reports. Parents must sign the paper before the student returns it to his or her teacher. Should there be a problem or should you desire a conference with the teacher, please indicate this on the special report or call to make arrangements to see the teacher.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE WEEK

March 1-7 has been designated Foreign Language Week. Schools throughout the state will be involved in different projects promoting the foreign languages. The foreign language teachers at Millbury High plan to celebrate this week with in-class projects.

RELEASE TIME DAY

On Friday, March 6, the faculty will be listening to the reports on Curriculum and School Atmosphere. Students will be dismissed at noon. No lunches will be served.

PLANNING AHEAD

The deadline for the April 4 SAT's is March 11.

The School play will be performed on March 20 and March 21. Mark the dates on your calendar. You won't want to miss "The Worst High School Play In the World", a full length comedy farce by William Gleason. The students have been working hard for two months and they deserve your support.

Shared the Benefits of Low-Cost Car Loans!

The Millbury Credit Union offers low rates on both New and Used Car Loans...good loans for the vehicles you want, with low rates available year-round.

At MCU, you can choose from a variety of options...the amount and term of the loan, with life and health insurance, if you wish.

Don't be misled by those "low, low rates" offered by some car dealers...rates which are often inflated by such hidden factors as sticker price, trade-in value, and "dealer participation".

Make the best deal you can...and then visit the Millbury Credit Union!
